Wainwright Might Have Airport ? HERE IS THE REPORT

April 17, 1945

To Mayor and Council

Town of Wainwright.
At the last meeting of Council held on April 3rd, I was appointed to investigate the possibilities of arranging for an Air Strip on some suitable Town Property.

I now beg leave to submit the following favorable report together with detail drawing of proposed Air Field.

Upon careful examination by myself and others we find that on the land lying North of the Highway on section 6-46-6 there is a very suitable strip for a landing field, about three quarters of a mile long, running in a Northwesterly direction, that can be made into a very serviceable and satisfactory Runway at a reasonable cost, well within the ability of the Town and District to construct.

Upon further investigation we find a great amount of interest expressed in Aviation and we are urged to proceed with the work as soon as possible to establish the best field we can to give accommodation to any Air Craft that may come this way.

Further the rapid expansion of air transportation that is now being planned or taking place warrants the most serious consideration by our local people, the air service from Winnipeg to Edmonton, planned by the T.C.A. over a Northerly route should come this way, also the promotion and establishment of Civil Aviation in a more local way as a post war project is now being studied by the Aeronautical Institute of Canada, they are conducting a survey across Canada with the view of mapping all existing landing strips at country points and finding out where others may be established in towns with a population of 1000 or over they are being assisted in this work by the Chamber of Commerce and many local Board of Trade.

After the war there will be a vast amount of well trained Airmen and a large quantity of useful aircraft available for Commercial and Civilian use, for which accommodation and useful purpose must or should be provided for, it will also be a tribute to our returning Airmen to have the ground work well established when they return, it will give them a starting point in readjusting themselves to civilian life and to continue to be of real service in the profession they have learned so well.

I therefore recommend that the work on this air strip be authorized, such as brushing and levelling, this can best be done by plowing and working down, than worked with a power grader.

I would suggest that the Municipal District of Wainwright number 392 be asked to come in on this scheme, much assistance has already been received in planning and drafting of the scheme so far and I would suggest that preparations be made to submit our plans before the Air Meeting being held in Edmonton on May 8th and 9th, this can be done through co-operation with the Board of Trade who are vitally interested in this venture.

All of which is respectfully submitted

J. ROBINSON.

ROAD CREWS READY FOR SPRING WORK

Highway work crews will be in action just as soon as spring weather conditions permit, according to information which the Alberta Motor Association has received from the provincial public works department.

An appropriation of $1,000,000 for main highways new construction has been passed by the provincial legislature. There is another $1,000,000 for district highways and local roads and $850,000 for main highways maintenance.

One of the first projects will be the final hard surfacing of the Edmonton to Millet section of the main Calgary-Edmonton highway, while another will be the completion of the Calgary-Crossfield road.

Also high on the list of initial projects will be the rebuilding and straightening of the Lethbridge-Coultas highway. Grading and graveling of most of the road at least is planned for this year, depending on labor and equipment.

Other projects also are planned in different parts of the province as the program gets under way.

Canada is in the process of opening its first trade commissioner office in Portugal. Appointment of L. S. Glass, former trade commissioner at Rio de Janeiro, to Lisbon has been announced.

Under a new order of Canada's construction controller a permit must now be obtained for construction, repair, addition or alteration of any building, other than a plant, that costs more than $500.

Use "P" Coupons For Preserves

Yellow "P" coupons in ration book 5 will succeed orange preserves coupons when supply of the latter runs out on June 21, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces. On June 21, orange-coloured coupon No. 57 plus yellow-coloured coupon P1 will become valid.

Specific preserves coupons declared valid for the purchase of sugar for this year's home canning are 43 and 44, 49 to 56 becoming valid on May 17, and P4 to 13 in the yellow-coloured series, becoming valid July 19. Each of these coupons can be used for either preserves or sugar just the same as other preserves coupons.

BONDS FOR SERVICEMEN

Dependents of men serving in the army may buy bonds through army Victory Loan committees it was announced at Victory Loan headquarters of the army today. It is understood that there are approximately 60,000 dependents of servicemen living in Alberta.

"All those who are dependents of army personnel should give the army credit for their Victory Loan purchases which they are now entitled to do," said Major J. H. Galnor, M.C. chairman of the army Victory Loan Committee, M.D. 13.

"This income is by reason of the fact that the recipients are dependents of army personnel so it seems only fair that the army should get credit for such Victory Loan purchases from that source."

"When purchasing bonds for cash through the bank, the purchaser simply has to ask the banker for Form S.R. 1 and have it marked ARMY, and if purchased on the deferred plan, simply ask your relative in the forces to supply you with Form S.R. 12 D.A. and A.P., which is the Army form," he explained.

Hints for the Household

Orange Dessert Salad

Peel and slice an orange for each guest to be served. Arrange slices on a bed of salad greens. Top with balls of cream cheese, moistened with a little of the orange juice and combined with chopped walnuts.

Or top with one of these: a spoonful of raisins, 2 or 3 shredded dates, or 4 or 5 prunes stuffed with walnuts meats.

Omit salad greens, if wished. Serve with any desired dressing, or omit dressing and sprinkle orange with a bit of sugar or honey.

Cinnamon toast is a good accompaniment for this salad.

Baked Bananas with Lemon Sauce

Baked bananas are quick to do. Peel fruit, dip in lemon juice and roll in ground peanuts. Put in oven or under broiler flame until fruit is tender. Serve with:

LEMON SAUCE: Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, 1 cup cold water. Boil 5 minutes. Remove from fire. Add: 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, a sprinkling of salt. Serve hot. This sauce serves 4. Allow 1 banana for each person. Some like the bananas better without the coating of nuts.

Children like these bananas. A good accompaniment is found in graham crackers spread with peanut butter.

Peanut Butter & Orange Sandwiches

Spread bread slices with peanut butter. Top with peeled and sliced oranges. Put slices together and serve at once. Or spread hot toast with peanut butter and top with orange slices.

Hot Spiced Lemon Tea

4 lemons—extract juice
1/2 to 1 cup sugar or honey
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
4 cups hot freshly made tea
Dissolve sugar in hot tea. Combine ingredients. Serve at once. Serves 4. Accompany with crackers, sandwiches or cookies.

CEREALS AS AN INGREDIENT

Today, cereal dishes appear frequently at lunch and dinner, and in many homes they serve as light, healthful before-bed bites and between-meal snacks. Furthermore, cereals are more and more finding favor as "ingredients" in cooked dishes.

Try this recipe for liver cakes. Liver is high in appetite appeal, rich in vitamins—and here's an entirely new way to serve it.

Liver Cakes

1/2 pound liver
1/2 cup cold cooked Grape-Nuts
Wheat-Meal
1 teaspoon salt

Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon bacon fat
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon chopped onion.

Wipe liver and remove skin and membrane; put through food chopper. Combine all ingredients and blend. Fill greased large muffin pans 2/3 full and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 6 cakes.

NOTE: If desired, 1/2 cup uncooked Wheat Meal mixed with 6 tablespoons cold water may be substituted for cooked Wheat-Meal. Allow liver mixture to stand 20 to 30 minutes before baking.

Spicy Bran Muffins

1/2 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons brown sugar or granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1 1/2 cups 40% Bran Flakes.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, sugar and spices, and sift again. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture, add shortening, then mix only enough to dampen flour. Fold in bran flakes. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full. Sprinkle with Pecan or Spice Topping, if desired. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Makes 8 large muffins.

PECAN TOPPING: Mix together

3 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons finely chopped pecan meats, 2 teaspoons melted butter, and dash of salt. Sprinkle over batter before baking.

SPICE TOPPING: Mix together 2 tablespoons granulated sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle over batter before baking.

THIS MONTH'S STAR RECIPE

Not all of my recipes call for foods that have been staples for generations. Here is a recipe for a cookie made from a new cereal. This cookie brings you something new in texture and flavor. It stays moist nicely and the orange marmalade gives it real zip. No wonder the following recipe is a "Star".

Raisin Bran Marmalade Cookies

3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, unbeaten
2/3 cup orange marmalade
1 cup Post's Raisin Bran

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Then add marmalade. Add flour and mix thoroughly. Add bran and blend. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Makes about 3 dozen 2 1/2 inch cookies.

Would you like to STRETCH your can of salmon? Would you like to enhance it? Are you interested in a salmon recipe that shows how to do both? Here it is—and incidentally any other canned fish may be used if your salmon shelf is bare.

Crunchy Salmon Scallops

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons onion juice
4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 cups (1 lb.) cooked or canned salmon

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced
1 cup coarsely crushed Post Toasties

1/2 cup grated American cheese
Melt butter in saucepan, add flour, and blend. Add milk, salt, and pepper cook and stir until thickened. Then add onion juice and green pepper.

Remove skin and bones from salmon; flake. Arrange in greased baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice. Place eggs, half of Toasties, and half of cheese on top. Cover with white sauce and top with remaining Toasties and cheese. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 6 servings.

A nation virile and active has no place for disease and attendant miseries. A nation of individuals interested in organized recreational programs has neither the time nor the inclination to take paths which lead to unhappiness.

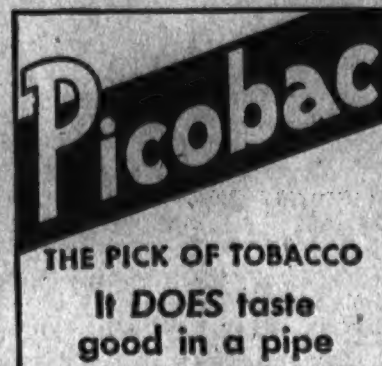

Therefore, there appears to be a definite place in Canada's life for the National Physical Fitness Act which is aimed at the promotion of the health and happiness of all the nation's citizens.

Also, it appears that establishment of a Division of Physical Fitness and Recreation in the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health probably is the most constructive step so far in any implementation of the national Act.

This provincial department organized a Saskatchewan Recreational Movement (SRM) and lit a fire which, in the words of the movement's official publication—SASKATCHEWAN RECREATION—is "sweeping the province." SRM hopes to interest every village, town and city in helping promote social, cultural, and athletic activities, enterprises and events for the nearly 900,000 men, women and children of the prairie province.

The Saskatchewan movement is said by Major Ian Hisehardt, National Director of Physical Fitness, to be "the most advanced provincial proposal to date."

EDUCATION AND RURAL YOUTH

The boy or girl who does not realize, at least vaguely, that lack of education will prove a serious handicap in life under modern conditions, is either dull or unfortunate. On the other hand, the young person is smart who manages to get a reasonably clear idea of his own educational needs and how those needs can best be satisfied.

Lack of understanding in these matters is to be expected of young people, but the confusion which exists about education, especially for farm boys and girls, is by no means confined to youth: it is a condition which extends to parents, teachers and many educational authorities.

Fundamentally the problems of education are easy to understand and the solutions of those problems are always the same. They are the same for all boys and girls, in all countries and in all ages. They are the same in agriculture as in any other occupation. Education should not be thought of as book-learning, although books and ability to study are very important means to that end. Education is the development of the whole personality

—the unfolding and expanding of all the latent faculties of the mind. It is a natural, not an artificial, process which takes place when conditions are favourable. No one can educate the farm boy or girl, or any other boy or girl. They must and do educate themselves. Whether their education is narrow and limited or broad and rich will depend altogether on the opportunities and facilities which are placed at their disposal.

Young people respond to every experience in life. Each experience helps to shape their personality and influence their development. They are stimulated by persons with whom they come in contact, by new sights, new tasks and new ideas. They are influenced by home life, school associates, teachers, books, church associations, clubs, travel. The more new experiences they have the more rapid is their development, and the more interesting are those experiences the more deep and lasting are the impressions which they convey.

Farm boys and girls who have sensible parents and a good home life are very fortunate because they have, in addition, an apprenticeship in farming. This is invaluable, especially for boys who expect to make farming their life work. Life on the farm provides experiences of great educational value. The tasks are varied and demand considerable skill; they have to do with living things which are born, grow and mature; work becomes a habit; an ability to plan and execute plans is developed.

This farm apprenticeship, combined with a good home life, is undoubtedly the main reason why so many boys, in spite of limited schooling, have yet made a reasonably good job of farming.

There is much evidence, however, to suggest that the next generation of farmers must have a standard of education considerably higher than that enjoyed by their fathers. The application of science to agriculture, the mechanization of farms, and the emphasis on farm management and the marketing of agricultural products, all indicate quite definitely that farmers should be well informed and men of good judgement. This means that the educational opportunities for farm boys should be made as favourable as possible.

Of all the experiences which influence most profoundly the development of boys and girls, the home and the school rank first in importance. Since little can be done by the public to modify the former, we are under heavy responsibility to provide adequate school facilities. Not that fine buildings, or equipment, or even good teachers, can insure education for the boy or girl; but they provide the opportunity, the stimulus and the environment which enables young people to make the most of themselves. Most important of all is the teacher, that indispensable and invaluable member of society who, by skill, patience and example, knows how to awaken in young people the latent qualities of mind and heart.

Compared with the quality of the teaching, other considerations are relatively unimportant, but that is no reason why we should fail to improve the curriculum, and teach the right things at the right time and in the right place. Many authorities on education are recommending a radical change in the curriculum with the idea of getting away from the academic approach and adopting an approach which aims at making the subject of study a living reality. They conceive the students to be more important than the subject of study, and attach more significance to an understanding of the current events of daily life than to facts and theories that seem to the student remote and unimportant. Such a change of attitude and method in the high schools is long overdue and the effect should be altogether beneficial.

It is important, however, for young persons to realize how much their educational progress depends on themselves. The notion that they are empty vessels waiting to be filled is entirely erroneous.

While educational facilities for various reasons are seldom as good as they could be, and often are sadly lacking, the young people who avail themselves of every opportunity for development can go a long way on their own initiative. Many farmers today are putting aside Victory Bonds for their children's higher education, and many young farm people are saving to take advantage of tomorrow's educational opportunities; there never was a time in the history of the world when knowledge was dispensed as lavishly as it is today, nor was there ever a time when it was easier for anyone with a little determination to surmount the difficulties which in times past made education the monopoly of a favoured few.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Soon there will be a knock at the door of the Canadian home. On the threshold will stand the Victory Loan salesman, confidently expecting an invitation to come in. It will be the eighth time that he knocks at the door and his confidence will not be badly founded. For more than three million Canadians have long since learned that he is indeed a friend and brings with him something of real value for the householder. The Victory Bond he offers are now visualized everywhere as instruments to guide individuals towards a more secure post-war situation.

But let us not forget that there are two callers at the door when the salesman knocks. Behind him, in spirit, is the Canadian boy in uniform who is backing up the salesman in his effort to increase the size of individual Victory Bond purchases, not so much because of his concern for the future material benefits to the purchaser, but because those purchases help to guarantee the continued flow of arms and ammunition to the battlefronts.

The Canadian who decides to buy a hundred dollar Bond after listening to the Victory Loan salesman may change his mind if he looks over the shoulder of the salesman into the eyes of that sailor, soldier or airman who counts on folks at home to back up his efforts overseas. Such a look may prompt a two hundred dollar purchase.

SAN FRANCISCO?

History unfolds like a great drama, for long periods slowly developing and now moving at bewildering speed with triumphs, with tragic turns and contrasts. While one act in Europe draws to a close, the stage is already being set for the next scene at San Francisco. Is it to be another tragedy? Or the foundations of a world at peace?

In millions of people hopes are high, longings are deep. But memories haunt us of the last peace lost and this time already there are many disquieting signs. The forthcoming conference has already focused many grievances, mistrusts and differences, both between and within nations—of the uninvited who clamour to be there and the invited who would rather take no responsibility, of politicians committed to directly opposing policies.

We too readily think of ourselves as only spectators in this great drama. Reading the morning paper gives the same thrill as watching the last rounds of a hockey match with our side winning. But we are actors too.

Generals may map a campaign, but the war is won by the millions of ordinary soldiers. So statesmen make post-war plans, but the peace has to be lived by millions of ordinary citizens. The real job of peace-making has to go on here in Canada—between labour management, race and race, neighbour and neighbour, husband and wife and children. For the multiplication of these private wars build up to war as we have known it today.

Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the Oxford Group, who 25 years ago saw that the last peace settlements left untouched the real causes of war, said in a world broadcast at the beginning of this war:

"The world must declare a moratorium on hate and fear, personally and nationally. The new peace pact might have as its preamble that all contracting parties, all nations, live on a basis of no hate, no fear, no greed; and the necessary prelude to this happier pact is that all of us begin that new quality of living now and do not postpone it for some future armistice. Then we shall be true patriots; then there will be law and order in the world, within our hearts and our nation; then we shall be able to say, 'Behold how these nations love one another!'"

Can. Garden Ser.

THE LAWN

Grass is hardy and only makes its best growth in the cool, moist weather of spring and fall, hence garden experts advise doing lawn work just as soon as possible. This means as soon as one can walk on the lawn without getting the shoes muddy. This advice applies in both starting new lawns and repairing old ones. First a word about seed.

Seldom is it advisable to sow a straight variety of lawn seed, and never in the case of the general family type of lawn. Seed houses put up special mixtures for this purpose, a blend of several different kinds of seed. In these mixtures are some very expensive seeds and some less expensive, blended together by those experts who know what is best for Canadian conditions. In the mixtures are some tough grasses that will help the lawn to withstand traffic, some quick growing kinds so that one does not have to wait weeks for the green carpet desired, and some grasses that will stay green almost in the driest weather.

Grass, like any other plant, will thrive best in good, rich soil, and it is never advisable to sow without decent preparation. This means at least one thorough cultivation before seed is sown, working up the top as fine as possible, and if necessary also working in a layer of rich, fine loam. It is highly important that all holes are filled in evenly and pressed down as it is much less difficult to get the ground level before the lawn is established than afterwards. For obvious reasons sow on a windless day, and to get an even coverage it is a good plan to broadcast once across and once lengthwise. Follow the directions carefully as to the amount of seed to use. There is no economy in sowing lightly. If birds are troublesome cover with some brush. With favorable weather the lawn should be ready for cutting in about six weeks, and a sharp lawnmower is essential to prevent tender, young grass from being pulled out. Grass on good soil, or fed once or twice each season with a good commercial fertilizer, will outgrow most weeds. Starved lawns are usually the weedy ones.

A SHORT CUT

One of the best short cuts is to start many flowers and vegetables indoors in hot beds or shallow window boxes, or to buy started plants from greenhouses and set these outside after danger of frost is past. Tomatoes, peppers, petunias, etc., have to be given this early start if they are to bloom or reach maturity in most parts of the Dominion.

For the small gardener, a window box is the simplest solution. This is simply a box a couple of inches deep filled with light soil. Seeds are planted in rows an inch or so apart about a month before the plants would normally be sown or set outside. The box is placed in a sunny window, watered carefully and once the seeds have germinated and the first set of leaves have developed they are thinned to permit husky growth. As the weather gets warmer the plants should be hardened off by exposing gradually to cooler air.

FIRST VEGETABLES

The very first vegetables to be sown outside will be lettuce, radish, spinach and garden peas. The first sowings of these can go in just as soon as the soil has dried sufficiently so that it will work up without turning to mud. Almost as soon as the kinds mentioned above will be the first carrots, beets and onions. Later will be the first potatoes and beans. Make at least three sowings of all vegetables two weeks apart and even more if season and location are favorable. Use early, medium and late varieties.

Letters like this pour in from 17 different countries to World Student Relief, an international organization through which students who are lucky and relief to students in need in other parts of the world, including some who are prisoners of war. In Canada funds are collected from students of 20 different universities and colleges through the Canadian Committee of International Student Service. Last year Canadian students collected $18,000; sent $11,300 to European students, $5,000 to China, and educational and other material to refugees and prisoners of war in Canada.

Department of Labour

This department administers all federal labour legislation. National Selective Service directs Canadian manpower into military or industrial fields, and the administration of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is in the care of this department too. Its National War Labour Board administers the wartime wages policy of the government, and its Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel organizes the placement of scientific and technical engineering personnel for war industries and the government service. Its Research and Statistics Branch collects information on prices, cost of living, strikes and lock-outs, industrial accidents, industrial agreements, manpower and employment. The department also publishes monthly the Labour Gazette which reviews the labour-industrial situation throughout Canada.

War Vets' Club is in the Hall

Servicemen travelling through Montreal are entertained and fed at a novel kind of "club". At the Point St. Charles Cosch Yard where military trains are inspected and serviced, restaurant and sitting-room cars have been equipped with tables for playing cards and with a loud speaker system for musical transcriptions. Newspapers and magazines are available, and cigarettes and matches are given out by Women's Voluntary Service workers. These arrangements were made possible through the co-operation of the CNR and the Canadian Legion War Services, Inc.

Grain Carriers Moved Record Load
Although grain carriers on the Lakes last year moved a record 466 million bushels out of the Port William-Port Arthur terminals, Eastern Canada is beginning to feel the pinch. The reason? Lakehead stocks are nearly double those of a year ago, but severe snow and ice conditions have hampered rail shipments. Rail movement of western grain has declined over 50 per cent.

U.S. Medals For 14 Canadians
Fourteen Canadians—members of the combined Canadian-American Special Service Force in Italy and France—have been awarded the Silver Star, United States decoration for gallantry in action.

This rare prize is one of several valuable gifts now being offered the listeners of the program "The Adventures of Jimmie Dale" heard over CJOA at 4:45 every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

First prize is a Bulova wrist watch, second is the autographed hockey stick, and third prize is four pairs of chifton stockings. Extra consolation and regional prizes will also be given away to listeners in Northern Alberta. To be eligible the listeners are asked merely to enclose a box top from a popular cereal and mail it to CJOA. It's a contest for young and old—and a thriller from the word "go". The prize winners will be announced at the end of April, and again at the end of May.

WE SIT AT HOME!

We sit at home where it's nice and safe while our young men face death hourly. They fight with their blood, their lives, for every inch they gain in occupied countries.

Not very fair, is it? So how about squaring up the score a bit? How about doing without and making do with what we have to back them with every last dollar. Let's turn our savings into Victory Bonds today; then buy an extra bond and pay for it by instalments every pay day. It's little enough to do—as we sit at home!

Canada and in the South American republics of Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru.In 1944 the Company sold nearly one billion 400 million gallons of petroleum products in Canada. For this it received 183 million dollars out of which it paid 128 million for raw materials, freight and sales taxes; 36 million for operating expenses, including wages, and nine million for income taxes. Its net profit from producing, transporting, refining and distributing these products was just under ten million dollars or equivalent to a little less than three quarters of a cent per gallon.

GERMS CARRIED BY

RAW COW'S MILK

Careful experiments have conclusively proved that there is no raw milk free from germs, even when obtained under sterile conditions.
There are known to be bacteria in milk when it leaves the udders of healthy cows.If milk is not kept very cold these bacteria first change its taste and color; then cause the milk to sour or curdle. This process continues in the stomach, causing indigestion, in babies particularly.In addition to the organism in the milk of healthy cows which causes the fermentation and putrefaction of the nutrients in milk, many diseased cows carry germs in the milk which produce very dangerous diseases in people of all races and ages.Disease-producing germs in milk have their origin in diseased cows, milkers, milk handlers, carriers or people who have recovered from infectious diseases but still carry the germs in their bodies, and at times from contaminated water used in the dairy for washing utensils.Milk-borne diseases are bovine tuberculosis, undulant fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, typhoid fever, paratyphoid and dysentery. There are also a number of food poisoners found in raw milk.Dr. J. R. Fraser, dean of the Mc-Gill University medical faculty, states that "possibly infantile paralysis is a milk-borne disease."The communicable diseases mentioned also may be conveyed in the various fresh-milk products such as cream, ice cream, cheese, butter and buttermilk.Proper pasteurization of raw milk destroys disease germs.

Clean Raw Milk Not

Always Dependably Safe

Many safeguards can be taken to assure clean milk but even clean milk, if unpasteurized, can carry germs. Clean milk can be obtained by the following protective methods:

1. Farm control in the form of sanitary inspection.
2. Veterinary and nutritional control of the herds.

3. Medical supervision of the milkers and handlers of milk.4. Properly cleaned cows and clean barns.Clean milk is essential from a sanitary point of view and safeguards health to a certain extent in that from it has eliminated much disease-carrying dirt. However, it is not always dependably safe.Dr. Frank Pedley, of McGill University's medical faculty, has stated that infectious diseases in cattle often occur and contaminate milk between tests which are made only about twice a year. The same is true in regard to milkers and handlers of milk.Also in connection with clean milk, Dr. John R. Fraser, another member of McGill's medical faculty, says that "milk is one of the most difficult foods to produce, draw, keep, handle and deliver in a clean state. Most foods usually are cooked well enough to kill any harmful or disease-producing germs that are in, or may get in them, whereas milk, to a great extent, is consumed in the uncooked state."Dr. Fraser added that "unsafe milk has been responsible in the past for more deaths and illnesses than all other foods grouped together."Milk may be clean and necessarily so, but cleanliness does not make it safe. Milk must be pasteurized to make it absolutely safe.

HUGH TEMPLE'S TALK AT RADIO BROADCAST FROM OTTAWA

In September, 1941, I was riding in a staff car over the lovely roads of southern England. All day long, we had been travelling with the Canadian Army on manoeuvres over dusty highways and past numerous little villages. In the back seat with me was an official army photographer, a young man from Ontario. He asked me questions about many details of the work in a weekly newspaper office, finally saying, "You may wonder why I am so much interested in weekly newspapers. Well, my great ambition is to own one after the war."

He didn't need to tell me that. It was an old story. Every time I visit a large daily paper, some reporter or editor confides in me that some day he is going to buy a nice weekly paper. I have been told that ninety per cent of the members of the press gallery here in Ottawa hope to own a weekly paper some day.

This common desire is based on a popular error—the idea that editors of weekly newspapers are men of comparative leisure. The city journalist, striving to meet a daily deadline imagines that he would have to hurry only one day a week if he had a little paper of his own. The other days, he could go fishing, or talk to farmers, or loaf around in his rose garden.

Editors of weekly papers don't do that, particularly in these days. They are working harder and with longer hours than at any other time in a generation or more. My own staff of bright young men is scattered, one is in a corvette in the North Atlantic, one is piloting a bomber over Germany, one is with the artillery in Belgium and one is doing radar work on the east coast. Nowadays an entirely feminine staff helps the editor to publish the News-Recorder.

Every weekly newspaper has its wartime troubles, yet the 30 editors who have been meeting here in Ottawa this week are men who enjoy their work. So do most of the other 600 editors in Canada whom they represent. They wouldn't trade jobs with anyone. They don't make much money, perhaps, but there is a solid satisfaction about their work.

The editor of a weekly paper lives close to his readers. He knows most of them by name. His paper prints the news as it affects the people in his own district. Many of the problems that shape history have their echoes in our own town and countryside.

Take the "Freedom of the Press" as an example. The news gathering associations of several countries are discussing the problem at present. It affects our weekly papers too, but in a smaller and more intimate way. After all, it was editors of weekly papers who won the Freedom of the Press in both Britain and Canada. And it isn't only national governments which would interfere with that freedom. Twice in my experience municipal councils have taken printing contracts from the News-Recorder because they didn't like pointed comment on the editorial page, and thought that in this way they could muzzle the editor. They were mistaken, of course, but there is need for constant vigilance even in small matters.

We make little attempt to cover the news of the world as a whole, but the big events often have their echoes here at home. When a thousand bombing planes go out over Germany, official report may say, "20 planes are missing from the night's operations, of which three are Canadian."

But when Bill Holman's mother brings in a letter from her boy, who is the bomb aimer in a Halifax, we know it is one of the most interesting stories we have seen in a long time and we know our readers will eat it up, not simply because of the modest understatement with which Bill describes how he brought home from Essen a battered Halifax plane with a wounded pilot, but because our readers have known Bill since he was a baby, and his mother and father before that. We are all glad to hear, a few days later, that Bill will soon be wearing the purple and white diagonal stripes of the Distinguished Flying Cross. He didn't know that when he wrote the letter, but there is no doubt he earned that medal.

This week, two more Fergus boys are in the honors list. Lorne Ford and Bill Mann used to live in the same block in Fergus. Their gardens almost touched, back to back. Lorne has been the pilot of a Mosquito bomber on many a raid over Berlin; Bill saved the life of an officer on D-Day on the beaches of Normandy at the risk of his own life. Our readers rejoice when local boys are honored; they sympathize with the parents of those who will not return because everybody knows them. Nearly every item in our papers has a personal interest that the Toronto Star or the London Times might envy.

One of the best things our newspapers do in these days is to keep the boys overseas in touch with home. Every weekly newspaper now has subscribers in Europe, Africa and Asia. In our own town, the Fergus council pays for several hundred copies of The News-Recorder each week for the local boys overseas. Nothing they do is more appreciated.

Our readers like to know how we interpret the news. They read our editorial pages. They think we know what we are talking about. And why shouldn't we? Looking over those 30 editors at the Chateau this week, I know that all of them have travelled across Canada, year after year, going to conventions, hearing local opinions and viewpoints. They have visited war industries; have sailed on ships of the Canadian Navy; have flown in training planes of the R.C.A.F. Some of them have travelled on crowded troop transports or pitiful refugee ships; have flown the Atlantic to Scotland; have been bombed in England; have tried to understand the people of neutral Ireland, or have been trailed by German spies in Lisbon.

It's an interesting life. No wonder so many people want to buy weekly newspapers.

What every housewife should know...

about SUGAR FOR CANNING

For tasty, nourishing and economical winter desserts, most Canadian housewives will again do some preserving this year... jams, jellies and all kinds of fresh fruits. Sugar is still very scarce. We must continue to conserve our supplies.

This year, the allowance for home canning will be the same as in 1944—ten pounds per person. Be sure to use your ration sparingly.

HOW TO GET SUGAR FOR CANNING

Instead of special home canning sugar coupons, twenty extra preserves coupons in Ration Book No. 5 are being made available for the purchase of sugar for canning.

These coupons are good for half a pound of sugar each or the stated value in commercial preserves, for they are the same as any of your preserves coupons.

You may use any other valid preserves coupons to purchase sugar, also at half a pound each.

No exchange is necessary. Your grocer will accept any valid preserves coupons when you purchase sugar for canning.

There are now only two kinds of coupons for sugar. The regular sugar coupon, good for one pound of sugar, and the preserves coupon, worth half a pound of sugar.

HOG QUALITY MUST #### BE IMPROVED

Whether or not Alberta is to retain her present position in the British bacon market after the war depends to a very large extent on the farmer, says A. J. Charnetaki, Live Stock Supervisor.

Some districts in Alberta are away below the provincial average in the quality of hogs produced, and are marketing only 10 and 12% Grade A's as compared with as high as 40% A's in other districts. If we are to retain the overseas market, quality of hogs must improve to a point where we are producing 90% in the two top grades as compared with 79% at present. Further, this difference should be made up of Grade A hogs, states Mr. Charnetaki.

To attain this objective, farmers are urged to purchase their hogs from leading pure bred swine breeders in the province. Applications under the Swine Improvement Policy should be placed early in the season, through the office of the District Agriculturist. Another way in which hog quality may be improved is to select good breeding gilts from herds now supplying a large percentage of Grade A hogs. Assistance in the location of suitable animals may be obtained from the District Agriculturist, and in some cases the local shipper can give considerable help in this regard.

TRAINING TREES FOR

FORM AND BALANCE

Few exposed trees attain their most symmetrical form if left entirely to themselves. Crooked or forked trunks often develop, forming unsightly and dangerous crochets. The ideal, states E. C. Hallman, Supervisor of the Farmstead Planning Service would be to watch the tree growth from year to year, and correct by pruning any irregularities of form or balance as they appear. Most trees, however, have been neglected in this respect and may now require drastic pruning.

Few farmers have had experience in pruning and are afraid that by the removal of heavy branches, the tree may be harmed. It takes courage to lop off heavy branches, says Mr. Hallman, but the sooner the fault is corrected, the easier the task and the less shock to the tree. Common sense is a good guide. An endeavour should be made to maintain the ideal form character of the kind of tree in question.

To grow a straight trunk from the beginning watch the tip and assist the tree in deciding which shall become the leader by nipping back or removing any competing shoots. Much can be done to correct the lean of the tree by selecting for the leader the shoot that most nearly approaches the perpendicular, or the shoot that leans slightly towards the prevailing wind or the direction that will restore its proper balance.

EARLY SPRING CULTIVATION

IMPORTANT FOR TREES

Here are principal reasons why early spring cultivation is important for trees:

Spring is when vigorous growth of trees takes place, when loss of water through weed growth should be prevented, and when, by aeration of the soil, the release of plant food from the soil for the use of the trees is vitally important says John Walker, Superintendent, Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Sask.

By early spring cultivation, annual weeds are readily killed, the production of weed seeds is largely prevented or greatly reduced, and the development of many perennial weeds is weakened and hindered.

The soil near the trunks of mature trees should not be disturbed to a great depth otherwise roots will be injured. Cultivation of closely-planted established shelterbelt trees should be limited to a margin about sixteen feet wide along each side.

On the other hand cultivation quite close to newly planted trees should be practised to reduce hoeing and hand weeding to a minimum. The number of times cultivation will be required during a season will depend upon how effectively weeds are dislodged, and how favorable the weather remains for killing them.

A majority of tree planters favor the disk for cultivating around trees as compared with a plow or cultivator. The latter are likely to destroy and injure more roots than the former. Best results follow the use of the INTHROW and OUTTHROW alternately; twice each may be sufficient in a season.

Try the recommendations made as a means of renewing and stimulating vigorous growth of shelterbelt trees: one year of seeds; seven years of weeds.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

TO SELL FARM PRODUCTS WE MUST TEAR DOWN CANADIAN TARIFFS

Our farmers will soon be starting to sow their crops. The acreage to each crop has been decided. The thought that is now agitating the minds of many is: "Will all that I am producing, whether wheat, coarse grains, livestock or livestock products find a market and at a satisfactory price?" For the time being markets and prices are assured, and furthermore are assured for a certain period after the war, but what about the long pull during the peace years?

My own firm conviction is that our ability to sell all our farm products at reasonable prices, rests upon one simple factor only, which is that Canada and the rest of the world will tear down those evil tariffs which so obstructed international trade during the period between the two wars, and will reinstate that happy condition we once enjoyed of International Free Trade. If this is done the hungry people of the world without question will buy all that we can produce, for the simple reason that they will have the money, the returns from the sale of their own goods to us and to other countries. The prosperous future of our farmers, therefore, rests upon the simple proposition—Will we be willing to accept the money, i.e. the goods, of the people who live in other countries and who badly need our foodstuffs? Farmers should make themselves heard about this.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Brazil has announced a six months suspension of corn exports. The measure is being taken to assure the country's food supplies—A survey of U.S.A. farmers' planting intentions reveals a slight decrease in the feed grain acreage this year—New Zealand requires increased wheat imports this year.

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has received 150,000 tons of Argentine wheat—Russia is increasing grain acreage this year about 12 million acres over the 1944 acreage—The Great Lakes shipping outlook is reported by the U.S.A. Senate War Investigating Committee to have been greatly improved, permitting heavier shipments of grain and vitally needed iron ores.

Perhaps you've been wondering just what the first post-war private planes are going to be like. Well, here is a pretty accurate summary.

In private planes the first year or two will bring new models which will be very much like those sold just before the war. Light planes will be divided into two distinct types, the conventional high wing monoplane carrying two or three passengers and the tricycle landing gear type, some with low wings and twin rudders.

The first type is exemplified by the pre-war Cub. Two-thirds of all civilian aircraft registered in the United States before the war were Cubs. It takes an expert to tell them apart from the other convention light planes. More about this type of plane's performance in a minute.

The tricycle landing gear type was pioneered by Ercoupe and it looks as if several other manufacturers will go in for the same general style. The Ercoupe is nearly all metal and anyone who can drive an automobile is supposed to be able to step into one and start flying. The controls are different from those in a conventional plane.

One's first impulse would be to go all out for the tricycle landing gear type of plane, but there are a couple of catches. In the first place they cost almost twice as much, and by the time you pay Canadian duties on top of that—Secondly, nobody has yet shown how to fly them with slides or floats and until they are licensed for that type of performance they won't be much good in Canada.

In addition to a variety of models very similar to the latest pre-war models, one or two manufacturers have announced plans for new ships. These again are divided into two categories, those which have actually been built and flown and those still in the dream, or design stage.

Among those already flown and the one which has the whole aviation industry on its ear is a new amphibian built in the States by Republic. With modifications it is supposed to carry four. It is a pusher type with the propeller behind and looks like a miniature flying boat. It's all rigged up to take off from a land airport and land on a lake with a special apparatus to fish from, dive from or to help in tying up to a dock. Planes that would do this were available before the war at $30,000 and up, mostly up.

Republic claims it's going to sell for not much more than $3,500 in the States, which means closer to $6,000 here, but at least one leading plane manufacturer with more experience than Republic in the small plane field has promised to start at the tail and eat the plane piece by piece forward to the nose if it can be sold profitable in the States for less than $5,000.

Other manufacturers—Fairchild, Waco, Luscombe, Culver, have all been talking family plane, a plane to carry four at over 100 miles an hour with the economy of a good automobile. So far it looks as if this type of plane will be ready a couple of years after hostilities cease. Cub, which also hopes to have one in this category has meanwhile already designed and flown a single seater called the Skycycle.

It's going to retail for $900 in the States and cruise at more than 100 miles an hour with a 40 horsepower engine and do about 40 miles to a gallon. Most of the industry thinks Piper is crazy, that a single-seater won't sell, but Piper argues that the average motorist drives alone often rather than he does with passengers, that much postwar flying will be done in rented planes, so—

Oh, and that business of the performance of the conventional two and three-seater light plane. They'll cruise at from 70 to 100 miles an hour and land at 35 to 45, do 15 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline depending on the make and model.
